

time:matters opens another international ic:kurier station in Amsterdam

Neu-Isenburg, September 10, 2013: time:matters, the expert for international Special Speed Logistics, continues to expand its ic:kurier network for sameday shipments transported to destinations outside of Germany within a few hours. In addition to 140 German train stations with ic:kurier service stations and the international destinations Basel, Paris and Vienna, Amsterdam Centraal will now join as the first Benelux station.

The ICE train covers the route Frankfurt–Amsterdam four times a day in 3 hours and 45 minutes. Booked shortly before 13:00, arrival in Amsterdam at 17:26 and all that for prices starting from €105. As with all services, customers can also book ic:kurier shipments around the clock via the service line from time:matters (+49 (0) 69 9999 2079). The logistics experts at time:matters Service Desk, which are specially trained for transports by rail, immediately create a customized transport concept, inform train stations, courier partners and Deutsche Bahn conductors. In addition, they conduct ongoing shipment monitoring.

Through its international multimodal transport network – air, road, rail – time:matters has access to a wide range of transport options that are combined according to the customer's needs. “The cooperation with Deutsche Bahn offers our customers greater flexibility, as well as a higher frequency of transport options to Amsterdam,” emphasizes Franz-Joseph Miller, CEO of time:matters.
