

time:matters becomes premium partner of Lufthansa Cargo

- Tonnage of more than 5,000 tons qualifies time:matters for partner program
- The nomination as premium partner acknowledges the economic success of time:matters and strengthens the company's competitiveness

Neu-Isenburg, March 20, 2024 – With a total tonnage of more than 5,000 tons last year, time:matters, the expert for time-critical emergency transports and supply chain solutions, has been nominated as a premium partner for Lufthansa Cargo's partner program. The carrier is thus honoring the commercial success of time:matters in 2023.

Neu-Isenburg-based company time:matters is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Lufthansa Cargo, which has been offering its customers worldwide customized and flexible logistics solutions for time-critical shipments since its foundation in 2002. The company's focus industries include aviation and aerospace, medical technology, cell and gene therapy, the semiconductor industry and automotive. The company relies on state-of-the-art technologies and an extensive network, including that of Lufthansa Cargo. In this way, the two companies work in partnership to support resilient supply chains by shipping urgently needed goods worldwide.

"The premium partner status is an important success of our growth strategy and enables us to further strengthen our competitiveness in the markets. Lufthansa Cargo's network gives us worldwide access to these markets for our customers," says Bernhard zur Strassen, Chief Executive Officer of time:matters.

"With Lufthansa Cargo, we have a strong partner at our side for the global transportation of air freight, with whom we can continue to expand our business in the future. Both companies have a strong focus on quality and speed. This allows us to build on each other's expertise to offer our customers high-performance and efficient solutions," adds Lars Krosch, Chief Operating Officer at time:matters.

The mutual recognition and appreciation within the partner program are reflected, among other things, in the regular exchange between the companies, such as regular monitoring of business development and the potential for joint growth. In addition, various joint innovative initiatives are developed within the program that create added value for customers. One example of this is the area of sustainability. The partners work closely together along the logistics supply chain to make a positive contribution to important challenges.

time:matters GmbH

time:matters has been the expert for time-critical express transports and supply chain solutions for more than 20 years. Urgently needed spare parts, missing production equipment, medical samples, dangerous goods, and important documents are transported quickly and reliably from A to B via air, rail, and road and if required also personally accompanied via on board courier or as charter solution.
